

NDIS exoskeleton purchase pathway

Five checkpoints for the participant, advisor and plan team. Start with a conversation, not a payment.

01 Enquiry

Discuss your walking goals and the candidate profile before focusing on a particular device.

Skipping this checkpoint can mean pursuing powered hip assistance without first checking whether it is relevant to the person's needs.

02 Plan-type check

Identify who manages your equipment funding and confirm the supplier and payment requirements.

Skipping this checkpoint can send the quote to the wrong contact or leave the required supplier arrangement unresolved.

03 Advisor evidence

Ask your advisor to compare options and risks, including comfort during an appropriate demonstration.

Skipping this checkpoint can leave discomfort or evidence gaps unaddressed, and more suitable alternatives overlooked.

04 Itemised quote

Request supplier documents and a quote: A$2,499 unit + A$80 delivery = A$2,579. Check any independent professional fees separately.

Skipping the complete cost check can leave an unexpected charge or funding shortfall that the unit price alone does not reveal.

05 Purchase checkpoint

Confirm suitability, funding, supplier, payment and fitting arrangements before ordering. Pause if anything is unresolved.

Paying before those checks can leave you responsible for a private purchase that is not reimbursed.

Pause if anything is unresolved. Supplier guidance, not funding approval or clinical advice. A demonstration creates no obligation to buy. Current product documents and individual assessment remain necessary.
